Week 1: Entering the Medicare System Not as Simple as You Think

Speaker: William McKendree, JD

Category: Other

Mon 9/28 & Wed 9/30

This presentation is about the issues, concerns, and problems faced by individuals as they try to access and utilize healthcare services and prescription medications through the Medicare system. We'll look at: when to enroll, how to enroll, the steps of enrollment and the correct sequence. We'll consider the possibility of delaying entry into Medicare - the pros and cons and the effects. And we'll also examine why enrolling in any part of Medicare can terminate other health benefit coverage (such as employer coverage).

Week 2: The Judgment You Can't Outsource: AI, Professional Responsibility, and the AICPA Code of Professional Conduct

Speaker: Lindsay Pfister, EdD, SHRM SCP and PCC

Category: Ethics

Mon 10/5 & Wed 10/7

Most CPAs are already using AI tools in their daily work. This session doesn't debate whether that's a good idea, it starts with the fact that it's already happening, and asks the harder question: what does the AICPA Code actually require once AI is part of how the work gets done?

In this session, you'll examine:

- What happens to client data once it goes into an AI tool, and how to protect it
- What due care requires before you trust, or challenge, what a tool produces
- Three judgment traps specific to working with AI
- When helping a client with AI crosses the line into an independence concern

Week 3: CPA Ethics

Speaker: Matthew Robinowitz, JD

Category: Ethics

Mon 10/12 & Wed 10/14

The course will cover the rules governing practice before the Internal Revenue Service, as contained in Circular 230. The course will also cover aspects of the AICPA Code of Professional Responsibility.

Week 4: The Technician's Trap: Why the Instincts That Made You a Great CPA Are Holding Back the Leader You're Becoming

Speaker: Lindsay Pfister, EdD, SHRM SCP and PCC

Category: Other

Mon 10/19 & Wed 10/21

You were promoted because you were the best technical CPA in the room. Nobody trained you for what comes next,

In this session, you'll examine:

- The real difference between managing, an extension of technical competence, and leading, a different skill entirely
- Four concrete shifts: from checking the work to building the judgment, from owning the outcome to owning the development, from directing the task to setting the standard, from correcting mistakes to coaching through them
- A working decision rule for when to step in and when to step back with your own team

Week 5: Excel for CPAs

Speaker: Krista Kay

Category: Other

Mon 10/26 & Wed 10/28

In this workshop, participants will learn how to create self-updating, audit-ready financial tools by:

- Building flexible, multi-condition XLOOKUP formulas that withstand column shifts and handle missing data safely.
- Using dynamic array formulas (FILTER, UNIQUE, SORT) to create auto-updating lists and reports without manual copy-pasting or macros.
- Combining multi-criteria aggregation functions (SUMIFS, COUNTIFS) with defensive error wrapping to ensure reports stay reliable as underlying data expands.
- Apply dynamic, formula-driven conditional formatting rules to automatically highlight budget variances, duplicate entries, and audit threshold breaches.
- Building resilient multi-tiered formulas combining IFS, SWITCH, and Boolean logic (AND/OR) to automate multi-variable decisions and tier calculations.

Week 6: Risk Management and Why It Is ImportantSpeaker: Travis S. Squyres, CIA, CFE*Category: Accounting & Auditing*Mon 11/2 & Wed 11/4

This course examines the importance of risk management and achieving organizational objectives. Participants will learn how aligning strategy, risks, and controls, enables proactive risk management, strengthens decision-making, and supports long-term business success.
